Top and I were very close friends from 2004-2010 and even once collaborated together musically. I loved his crazy, twisted humor that was so like mine, and the great conversations we always had. He was very easy to talk to. We were both night owls, so we'd stay up late and be on the phone talking til the wee hours. It was during those conversations that we learned a whole lot about each other's lives. I would say we were bonded through our trauma and the humor we used to shake it off. I had a bit of a falling out with him around 2010, nothing terribly specific except that spiritually we both went off in different directions. I have thought about him a lot over the years but never reached out. I recently mentioned him to a friend who is psychic and she said she thought he had passed, so I looked him up and wow.... rest in peace Top. I don't know what happened but I hope it was quick. Prayers for you and your family.

He was my partner and bestfriend for the past 10 years. His sudden passing has been difficult and painful. The many memories we created together in those 10 years were truly amazing. Our unconventional relationship was filled with love, happiness, laughter, loyalty and honesty. He became the love of my life and my soul mate. I love and miss him immensely. 😞
