Our Beloved Uncle George “Big G” Warren,

George Warren was born on October 14, 1947, in Seaside California to Allen Warren and Lucinda Gordon. George was welcomed alongside his fraternal twin brother Ernest. George and his family moved from Seaside California to San Francisco in the early 1950’s. George was a proud student of the San Francisco Unified School District attending Daniel Webster Elementary School, Benjamin Franklin Middle School, and graduating from Gaileo High School. George went on to serve a short stint in the United States Army before a securing a job at Berkeley Farms. Following his work at Berkeley Farms, George went on to several positions, but he was most notable for is beloved “Recycling” jobs.

In the late 70’s, George met the love of this life, Ms. Willa Rhodes. George went on to marry Willa and stayed married until her death.

Uncle George was loving and kind. He was always positive and very funny. He was a great music enthusiast with some of his favorite songs being Positive K “I Got a Man”, and The Tempting Temptations “Paradise”.

George leaves behind his sisters Betty and Annarise Warren, a host of niece and nephews, stepchildren, grandchildren including Ms. Nicole Collins, and many other family and friends.

When I was little, I used to listen to his Walkman. I would go around the house dancing to some of his favorite songs. I also remember him always having a sweet tooth and lecturing me to eat healthier than him 🤪.
